Post 12-29-68

RIO DE JANEIRO—Alberto Dines, editor of the influential newspaper Jornal do Brasil, was arrested and confined to a military barracks, apparently as the result of a speech he made at the Catholic University here. Dines, who teaches journalism at the university, assailed the assumption of extraordinary powers by President Arthur da Costa e Silva and the imposition of press censorship.

A government spokesman, meanwhile, said many but not all of the approximately 150 persons arrested throughout the counrty in the past week will be home for Christmas.
